

Q&A

Contractor to conduct a system review of the national Family Planning Program

(MDV-ToR/2022/24 Dated: 14/08/2022)

Question

Develop a methodology covering (i) a literature review of relevant materials and identify cases (around 4-5) of women from different social groups who have challenges to meet the family planning need and relevant facility reviews and key informant interviews.

Does this mean that you require primary data from only 5 case studies plus institutional reviews offering the services and key informant interviews?

Answer

As the purpose of the study is to find the bottlenecks of seeking family planning services, this study aims at analyzing cases of around 4-5 women who has had accessibility challenges seeking family planning services through the public sector. This qualitative analysis should aim to find the 'why' and be centered around the context and social situation of these women. The analysis should also be correlated and triangulated with information and data from the facilities and service providers. The cases selected should be from women of different social statuses.
